RED SEAL RECORDS

6 4 9 7 { Rondo (Mozart-Kreisler) Renée Chemet
 12-in. list price $2.00 { Sonata in E Major—Adagio and Allegro (Handel) Renée Chemet

Chemet has made a beautiful record of the rondo she played at the Victor broadcast concert on February 12,—swift, impetuous, scintillating with life. All the resources of the violin are called into play. With it are coupled, on the other side, a beautiful broad, majestic adagio from a Handel sonata, and an allegro of almost Olympian jollity, somewhat in the rhythm of the classical rigadoun. Both numbers are played with amazing spirit—and with that unconscious completeness and perfection of style which is the mark of greatness in the technical side of an art.

6 4 9 5 { Rigoletto—Caro Nome (Dearest Name) Italian Toti Dal Monte
 12-in. list price $2.00 { Barbieri—Una voce Poco fa (Barber of Seville)—A Little Voice
 I Hear) Italian Toti Dal Monte

The confession of Gilda, to herself, of her secret love for the dissolute Duke of Mantua, and the similar if less serious confession of Rosina in the Barber of Seville. They are sung with superb and electrifying power—high B's and C sharps appear in them as naturally as middle tones of the voice. They illustrate, admirably, how varied a medium of expression the coloratura style in music can be—with a "serious" aria in the one instance and a sprightly one in its companion. The individual styles of the composers, too, are powerfully marked.

 10-in. list { Bimba, non t'avvicinar (Little Girl, Do Not Come Near) price $1.50 { (Cortesi-Bettinelli) In Italian Miguel Fleta

Songs based on familiar dance rhythms, sung in a ringing and powerful tenor voice with the orchestra behind. The first suggests the dance most of us know as the tango; the second is in the style of the Fox Trot Hesitation. "Amapola" yields some remarkable contrasts between the upper and lower tones of this unusual voice, and "Bimba" the singer's deft sense of rhythm. The orchestra's accompaniments are notable,—sustaining and vivifying the melodies of the voice with a marvelous play of coloring,—and always with the finest and subtlest rhythmic feeling.

1 0 6 9 { Symphony No. 5, in C minor—First Movement, Parts 1 and 2
 10-in. list { (Beethoven) Willem Mengelberg and New York Philharmonic Orchestra
 price $1.50

Beethoven's Fifth symphony is perhaps the greatest of all works of abstract music—music free of literary, dramatic or religious connotations. A hundred years' slow absorption of its grandeur has made it in the highest sense a popular work today. This first movement is based wholly on the four-note theme at the beginning, of which Beethoven himself said, "Thus Fate Knocks at the Portal." It is nobly played, with full appreciation of its majestic power, its melodies taking form, bar by bar, from the simplest of all possible themes.

6 4 9 6 { La Gioconda—Suicidio! (Suicide Remains!) (Ponchielli) Ponselle
 12-in. list { L'Africana—In grembo a me (Lulled in My Arms) (Meyerbeer)
 price $2.00 { Ponselle

In these two great operatic numbers, Miss Ponselle displays her versatility to a remarkable degree, for they demand the lyric, the dramatic and the coloratura styles. "Suicidio" is in the large, dramatic mode, with high notes of ringing clarity, tender melody and at the end a deep cello-like note of great beauty. Miss Ponselle with her fine dramatic sense makes La Gioconda live again in all her passionate intensity. "Lulled in My Arms," requiring coloratura skill of high order, is full of ingratiating melody, with delicate embellishments including a flute and voice duet.

Werrenrath

1071 { Ave Maria (Hail, Mary!) (Vittoria) Sistine Chapel Choir
 10-in. list price $1.50 { O Salutaris Hostia (Oh, Saving Victim) (Perosi) Sistine Chapel Choir

Two beautiful examples of the music of the Roman church at its highest development, presented with the traditional art of the Sistine Choir. The "Ave Maria" employs the famous male sopranos. "O Salutaris" breathes an atmosphere of deep devotion. It is worthy of note that crescendo and diminuendo are accomplished by adding to or subtracting from the number of voices, but with such skill that it is difficult to detect the point at which these join or become silent.

1072 { Sun and Moon (Dick-Penn) Reinald Werrenrath
 10-in. list price $1.50 { Drumadoon (Renshaw-Sanderson) Reinald Werrenrath

Werrenrath recordings of highly unusual interest; a song by the composer of "Smilin' Through," and a ballad of memory and love-longing, set among the heather-clad moors of the Old World—a ballad of such beauty and pathos that few who know the pangs of memory and the spell of music will be able to resist it. Werrenrath sings both songs, in that marvelous baritone voice of his, with touching expression.

BLUE LABEL RECORD

Cahill at Home

45482 { At the Theatre Marie Cahill
 10-in. list price $1.00 { Neighbors Marie Cahill

When it comes to presenting the psychology of the Eternal Feminine in a few sentences, this clever comedienne is almost without rivals. She goes to the theatre, calls up the lady in the next apartment to turn off the gas she believes she left burning under the beans—but you must hear for yourself. Miss Cahill deftly introduces herself—and a few other celebrities—into the record. The companion number is as good.

INSTRUMENTAL RECORDS

- 19524 { The Toreador and the Andalusian Maid (Rubinstein) Victor Symphony Orchestra
 10-in. list price 75c. { Feramors—Wedding Procession (Rubinstein) Victor Symphony Orchestra

The glory of the Russian ballet—of the whole Imperial Court in its last great days—seems to cling like a perfume in these two numbers. They have been danced by the greatest dancers in the world, precisely as great operatic and concert music has been played or sung by the skillfullest expositors of the human voice or of musical instruments. The first is Russian-Oriental, the second Spanish, in style. If you like the music of "Carmen" or things like Moskowski's "Malagueña," you will want this record too. The Toreador and the Andalusian Maid (Toreador et Andalouse) is from Rubinstein's famous suite, "The Costume Ball," while the opera Feramors, from which the "Wedding Procession" derives, was based on Thomas Moore's poem of Lalla Rookh. These are "scenic" musical compositions, with all the glamour of the stage upon them. Interpretative dancers will receive them with especial delight.

Wiedoeff

- 19559 { Kiss Me Again Rudy Wiedoeff
 10-in. list price 75c. { Valse Mazanetta Rudy Wiedoeff

There are many persons who think the refrain from Victor Herbert's "Kiss Me Again" is the most beautiful waltz melody ever composed in the United States. As we cannot think of a tenderer one, we never argue the point. We have been asked for a saxophone record of it, and here it is, by an artist who can exploit to the utmost the capabilities of that instrument. With it is a brilliant waltz of his own composing. The accompaniment is for the piano. It would be difficult to find a record more characteristic of good saxophone playing today.

- 19564 { The Flatterer (La Lisonjera) Hans Barth
 10-in. list price 75c. { Scarf Dance (Pas des Echarpes) Hans Barth
 (Chaminade) (Chaminade)

First Victor record by this distinguished young pianist, who at six years gave a public concert and was tendered a scholarship in the great historic conservatory at Leipzig. He is playing for us two of the most delightful salon-pieces of Cecile Chaminade—the delicate and elusive "Flatterer" and the graceful "Scarf Dance." Though both numbers are known to pianists and student pianists the world over, it takes an artist-reading like this to reveal their full beauty.

Jesse Crawford

Jesse Crawford

Jesse Crawford at the organ

New "movie" effects, new tone colors in these records by Jesse Crawford played on the Wur-litzer Organ. No wonder there is such a demand for them. Mr. Crawford gets a lot of original tricks and effects. With the vast resources of the modern organ at his finger tips, the opportunity is offered for his imagination to invest familiar tunes with unsuspected embellishments, and he imitates the saxophone, 'cello and other instruments, not to mention using the celesta and orchestral bell and vox humana, giving always his own distinctive interpretation to this popular music. The records, we are certain will be in wide demand.

Mark Andrews

The first pipe organ records of Mark Andrews proved so successful that we have made more of them. Here are two numbers especially appropriate to Easter, but acceptable the year round for their quite exceptional beauty. In both of them the elusive, shimmering tones of the vox humana and the soft clangor of bells may be heard. The tunes used are known as "Worgan" and "Rockingham."

These records will be of extraordinary interest to music teachers with pupils in the earlier stages of instruction. They exemplify the famous method of Hazel Gertrude Kinscella, who herself takes part in the various compositions. They are to be played at the piano. Miss Kinscella plays each melody, and then ceases while the orchestra repeats it, the pupil being supposed to play the piano part.

DANCE RECORDS

Paul Whiteman and His Orchestra

- 19584 { The Only Only One for Me—Fox Trot Paul Whiteman and His Orchestra
 10-in. list price 75c. { Lucky Kentucky—Fox Trot Paul Whiteman and His Orchestra

"These recent Paul Whiteman records," said a recent dance partner, "always make me feel as if I were dancing on air." "That's us," said we, even though both of us were stamping out the Collegiate. And that girl hadn't yet heard these two records. Both of them have melodies of the year's peculiar style. They are scored with a beautiful and ceaseless counterplay of orchestral color, through which the rhythm booms out gloriously.

- 19590 { No Wonder—Fox Trot International Novelty Orchestra
 10-in. list price 75c. { Betty Lee—Fox Trot Jack Shilkret's Orchestra

Nothing, it seems, will more quickly banish human care than a healthy and vigorous dance. Try it, and feel the illusions of defeat and disaster slough off from your soul, and the images of the lost things you thought you never could forget, disappear and die from memory. These are good joyous dances, splendidly played. The first has a vocal refrain; the second is from "Betty Lee."

Jack Shilkret

- 19571 { You and I—Fox Trot Jack Shilkret's Orchestra
 10-in. list price 75c. { Will You Remember Me?—Fox Trot Waring's Pennsylvanians

If you like fine musical finish in your fox-trot records, you will be certain to fancy "You and I," which is from "My Girl," for it is musicianly as well as clever. It is played with great skill and nicety of detail; it has beautiful string effects, and highly interesting combinations of a sax against celesta and piano. The companion number has a splendid swing, with interesting banjo work toward its middle, and a flute is introduced with joyous results.

George Olsen and His Music

- 19580 { Nobody Knows What a Red-Head Mamma Can Do—Fox Trot
 10-in. list price 75c. { I Can't Stop Babying You—Fox Trot
 George Olsen and His Music
 Charles Dornberger and His Orchestra

Joy in the fox trot never grows stale—there is always something new in its music, for it constantly renews itself. There are new and singular tricks in the dance this year, too. To encourage 'em along, here are two excellent fox trots by organizations which have made big names for themselves. "Red-Head Mamma" you already know on another Victor record; "I Can't Stop Babying You" pairs with it in excellent style. Both work very well with the "Flyheel Flo" and other "collegiate" tricks, but you may use them for the standard fox trot, too.

- 19586 { O, Katharina!—Fox Trot International Novelty Orchestra
 10-in. list price 75c. { Titina—Fox Trot International Novelty Orchestra

There is going to be some enthusiasm among dancers over these unconventional fox trots, both from European sources. "O Katharina" is from the "Chauve-Souris," and the companion number from "Puzzles of 1925." Both have dialect vocal refrains, and, in the first instance, with unusual rhymes. They are a perfect blaze of orchestral color, and daring dancers will take especial delight in them. They are smooth as a mill-race, absolutely without bumpiness, and here and there (note the pauses in Katharina) there is a breath-taking bit of technique.

- 19589 { When It's Love-Time in Hawaii—Waltz Green Brothers' Marimba Orchestra
 10-in. list price 75c. { Down Hawaii Way—Waltz Green Brothers' Marimba Orchestra

Waltzes in the "Hawaiian" manner with cool, shivery tremolo effects that now these March winds are done, will nurse you through many a good dance during the summer season. The strings, the marimba and the mysteriously-sounding vibraphone all figure; the latter instrument can be recognized just after the voice (for there is a vocal refrain) ceases humming in the first number. It appears again at the beginning of the second. The tempo is admirable for the waltz as it is danced today, with its amazing variety of steps and plastic poses.

19594 { Sob Sister Sadie—Fox Trot
10-in. list price 75c. { Throw Down Blues—Fox Trot

Original Memphis Five

Original Memphis Five

Simon-pure jazz. "Sob Sister Sadie" works superbly with the new clog-effects of the "collegiate" fox trot, but of course, if you want to dance prettily it will work just as well. "Throw Down Blues" has the slow loping movement of the Southern and Southwestern fox trot, a clarinet leading its melody. These are two very funny dance numbers, and we think they will bring rejoicing into the "inner circle" of less serious fox trotters. Try them out, and see dignity creep out and laughter begin!

VOCAL RECORDS

19565 { Oh Mabel
10-in. list price 75c. { I Couldn't Get to It in Time

Billy Murray

Wendell Hall

Billy Murray

You have been fox-trotting to "Oh Mabel"; here is the song, and you may fox trot to it on this record too if you like. Billy tells of a serenader who stood "sighing and singing" of midnight strains" beneath Mabel's window until he got a fearful cold in the head for his pains. Billy's "Oh Mabel" is very convincing. The accompaniment to this song is splendidly done. Then Wendell Hall, the irresistible, has a turn, with one of his own vigorous songs with ukulele and guitar; there is a chuckle in every line. Both of these numbers are the timeliest imaginable.

Hall

Aileen Stanley

19585 { When My Sugar Walks Down the Street
10-in. list price 75c. { I Ain't Got Nobody to Love
Aileen Stanley
Aileen Stanley

Two highly popular numbers in a manner which is the contemporary outgrowth of the "blues." The first one introduces one of its composers, Gene Austin, as an assisting artist. It has a catchy melody and rhythm, and has dicky-bird effects and queer vocal ululations. The companion number, for the soprano alone, is in very much similar style, and, judged by the tests of popular music, is something of a knockout. Most everybody will want these.

Clark looks up a word

19588 { Keep Smiling at Trouble Shannon Quartet
 10-in. list { When You and I Were Seventeen Helen Clark-Lewis James
 price 75c.

Popular numbers, the first one from "Big Boy," for a quartet of male voices, the second for soprano and tenor. In the quartet you are enjoined to "keep smiling at trouble, for trouble's a bubble," which will give you a clew to the character of the composition. It has a strongly marked rhythm, with humming effects, echo effects, and fine accompanimental colors. You already have done the fox trot to its music.

The companion number is emphatically in the popular style, with a waltz rhythm, a charming bit of interlude.

35752 { The Crucifixion—Could Ye Not Watch With Me Trinity Quartet
 12-in. list { The Crucifixion—The Appeal of the Crucified Trinity Choir
 price $1.25

Sir John Stainer's "Crucifixion" is very widely sung in English-speaking Christian churches during Holy Week, most often on Good Friday. We here present two numbers from it by the famous Trinity Chorus, with the organ. They are superb models of this kind of devotional singing; but they possess, for their pure religious interest, a wider significance than this. They have been in demand a long time, and they will eagerly be welcomed. Thousands of church choirs have studied and sung the "Crucifixion," many of them without the chance of hearing really fine interpretations of the work. These records will help.

19566 { Gypsy Love Song Ralph Crane
 10-in. list { Forgotten Ralph Crane
 price 75c.

A signally fine baritone record, with the orchestra, of Victor Herbert's Gypsy Love Song, from "The Fortune Teller," coupled with Eugene Cowles' "Forgotten." The one, as all know, is a tender and half-playful slumber-song, and the companion number is a song of love-remembrance. Both are sung in manly fashion, to an accompaniment in which the violin and the harp are especially conspicuous. Voice quality, enunciation, and expression generally, are clear, pure and fine.

19597 { Honest and Truly Henry Burr
 10-in. list { Dear One Henry Burr
 price 75c.

The inimitable Henry Burr in two charming bits of the music of the moment. Sentimental, yes; but artistically done, and spiced with the talented "sax-ing" of Wiedoeft and Banta's nimble piano-playing. A maiden who could resist the soft cajolery of "Honest and Truly" would be hard-hearted indeed. The waltz refrain is pleasant. "Dear One" is a little more intense, with a gentle but infectious rhythm, and a fine high note at the end. The saxophone interlude with a strain of "O Sole Mio" is a pleasing bit.

Crumit plays minstrel

10-in. list
price 75c.

Why Couldn't It Be Poor Little Me Frank Crumit
Cross-Word Mamma You Puzzle Me Frank Crumit

"Little Me's" all over the country will find cheer in Frank Crumit's songs to the guitar. It is in the language of the moment, to the music of the moment, and tomorrow, to a lot of us, seems a long way off. "Little Me" is sung like its companion, in Frank's best irresponsible style, with humming effects, to the fetching little jingle of Carson Robison's guitar. "Cross-Word Mamma" hits a fad of the moment with unerring aim. If cross-word puzzling causes you any mental fatigue whatsoever, put on the record and kill it!

19583 { Come Back to Erin
10-in. list price 75c. Killarney

Shannon Quartet

Shannon Quartet

Two beautiful quartet numbers in the popular style. They are especially appropriate to St. Patrick's Day, but, as someone has said, "Every day in the year is St. Patrick's day to an Irishman." Irish or Sassenach, or whatsoever species of alien to the Green Isle, we think you will enjoy these records for their sheer vocal beauty. There are some humming effects in the second one. They are sung to the orchestra, and the plaintive melody of "Come Back to Erin" is in fine contrast with the bold, swinging one of "Killarney." Could anyone more appropriately sing these songs than a quartet bearing such a name as our familiar friends the Shannons?

19598 { I'll See You in My Dreams
10-in list price 75c. Because They All Love You

Lewis James

Franklyn Baur

Baur says "Howdy"

Two delightfully melodious numbers, the kind that stick in your memory. Just a touch of sentiment, and delightful orchestral parts. "My Dreams" is based on a fox-trot rhythm that you will find pleasing, and Mr. James gives the sentimental quality exactly the right value. Spicy orchestral touches brighten the smooth melody of "Because," yet do not intrude upon the vocal part. A pleasant tenor, an orchestral accompaniment full of unusual touches of instrumental color—it's an ideal combination. Lots of folk have wanted James and Baur on a new record—here it is!

James on vacation

Kelly Harrell's simple ballads of Southern life have taken the country—more especially the Southland by surprise and delight. Here are two more of them, with all their homely simplicity of utterance, and their primitive melody against violin, harmonica and guitar—and train-whistle.

A VICTOR ALBUM OF THE "PATHETIC" SYMPHONY

AFTER many, many requests from lovers of music, we at last are glad to announce that we have added to the Music Arts Library of Victor Records, a complete recording of the great B minor symphony of Tschaiowsky, the world-beloved "Pathetic" symphony, perhaps the crowning example of Russian genius in musical composition.

This symphony, the closing work of the composer's life, written a little time before his death of the plague in Russia, seems to be, with possibly the single exception of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony, the most popular symphonic work in the world. Its melodies are of poignant and heart-searching character, its harmonies original and multifarious, and its rhythms instinct with the very pulse of life. They contain many things of unique interest—the marvelous lyric-tragic first movement, the unique second one in 5/4 time, the intricate scherzo, the sombre and magnificent close—these are charged with beauty.

The symphony is contained on five double-faced twelve-inch records made by the Royal Albert Hall Orchestra under the baton of Sir Landon Ronald. The list price of the records is $8.00, which includes also the album in which they are contained. An interpretative description of the symphony, in English, is presented in the album, printed on the record envelopes, with no danger of becoming lost or mislaid.

This issue is made in avowed accord with a principle which the Victor Company has upheld during the whole generation of its growth—that of giving to the music-loving world the great masterpieces of musical art in such form that they not only may reach the thousands who may never hear them on the concert stage, but that they may remain with them as treasured possessions—possessions to expand and dignify life itself.
